18. 다음 글에서 밑줄 친 They 가 가리키는 것은? [1 점]

They are now able to "see" and "talk," using special computers. Scientists and engineers are even trying to give them a sense of touch, so that they will be able to feel the tools that they are holding. It may be a long time before they will be able to cook dinner or get the newspaper for us. But scientists believe that they can perform more complex tasks for us in the future. In fact, they are expected to deal with unexpected or dangerous situations or to do some kind of job better for us.

- ① Cars- -----② Robots
③ Cameras- -----④ Telephones
⑤ Televisions

19. 다음 글에서 밑줄 친 something 이 가리키는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

Every day, some newspaper prints a column about disorder. People drive faster than the speed limit, and drive through red light. People usually do not realize how disorderly our society is until they take a trip abroad. In the U.S. and Europe citizens usually call the police when they see laws being broken. They cannot bear to see others breaking the law without receiving punishment.

외국어(영어)영역

42. 다음 글에서 필자가 주장하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

“Talent” doesn't have to mean you paint great pictures. Caring for people is a talent. Teaching is a talent. Making people feel welcome is a talent. Solving problems is a talent. Too often we ignore our own talents. The potter says: “If I could make music....” The pianist says: “If I could make things with my hands....” Don't compare your abilities with others'. Accept what talents you have. Do what you can do. Happiness comes from developing your gifts, not wishing for someone else's.

[47-48] 다음 글을 읽고, 물음에 답하십시오.

(A)

Winners make far more mistakes than losers. That is why they are winners. They are getting more knowledge or experiences as they continue to try more possibilities. However, losers regard a mistake as such a big event and fail to recognize the positive side to making mistakes. We learn far more from our losses than we do from our victories. When we lose, we think, analyze, and make a new plan. When we win, we simply enjoy, and often learn very little!

(B)

The story of Thomas Edison is impressive. He'd failed so many times in his efforts to produce an electric light bulb. Some people thought of his failure as the deadly misfortune. They advised Edison to give up his fruitless attempts. One day, a gentleman asked the inventor how it felt to have failed so frequently. Edison replied that he had not failed at all, but rather he had successfully found thousands of ways how not to make a light bulb! That kind of healthy attitude toward mistakes enabled Edison to make a great contribution to the world. *contribution: 기여, 공헌

[49-50] 다음 글을 읽고, 물음에 답하십시오.

At summer camp Bill received a box of cookies in the mail from his mother. He ate a few, then placed the rest under his bed. The next day, after lunch he went to his tent and found the box was gone. That afternoon a camp counselor saw Tom eating the stolen cookies. He said to himself, "He must be taught not to steal." He returned to the group and said to Bill, "I know who stole your cookies. Will you help me teach him a lesson?" "Well, yes—but aren't you going to punish him?" asked Bill. "No, that would only make him hate you," the counselor explained. "Please ask your mother to send you another box of cookies."

Bill did so and a few days later received another box of cookies. "Now," said the counselor, "go and share your cookies with Tom. Try it and see what happens." Half an hour later the camp counselor saw the two come up the hill, arm in arm. Tom was trying to give Bill his jackknife in payment for the stolen cookies, and Bill was just refusing earnestly the gift from Tom.
